BREED THEATER.

One of the most thrilling stories that has appeared upon the screen of the Breed theater is the one today featured under the title of The Eye That Never Sleeps. This is the first of a series of detective stories in which Francis Bushimann appears as the great secret service sienth. It deals with his rounding of a gang of counterfeiters, which is done so cleverby and quickly that the feat is accomplished almost before the audiences know it. The Justice of Manitou, a superb Fathe production, is presented know it. The Justice of Manitou, a superb Paihe production, is presented ments.

NATURE'S OWN BEVERAGE.

Let a creaking stop at the little station.

Conductor Ed Wilmot sticks his head in the door and vells "Cleek-O" at you. It sounds cheery—you are reminded instantly of a cuckoe clock. But that is the proper way to proncunce Clicague, in old French family name which has been made famous by the best brands of champagne and ginger ale.

The little station locks cosy and institute in the wide clean hay fields of Massachuseits' finest farming section. Far from the smoke and sort of an industrial center, the Clicquot Club ginger ale is brewed by the little wooden station on the line to Woonsacket.

A health drink, a drink of joy. Clicquot Club ginger ale is every day becoming a closer and closer friend and companion to tired-out humanity, and with every succeeding day is finging to its makers and to the great commence wealth in which it is brewed a greater and wider fame for excellence and merit.

TO LIVE Live! Live! Live! and be glad that the aky is blue. Breathe your share Of the sweet, pure air That God has provided for you.

Give! Give! Give! of whatever you have and hold. A word is worth while And even a smile Is good for its weight in gold.

Work! Work! Work! and be giad there in work to do.

Do your best, And leave the rest
To God, who believes in you.

Love! Love! Love! and be richer fee, for the giving.
Grow each day
In some good way.
And life will be worth the living.
—M. Van Campen, in July Nautilus.

A PRAYER. Oh, Lord God, my Heavenly Father, Take from my Heast all Fear; Make me to know both Day and Night time

Thou art Nor. Make me to see the Love Eternal, Encircling me Always. Make me to feel Thy Wondrous Pres-

All my Days Give me the Faith of little Children, Trusting only Thee, Knowing naught can Change Tity, Goodness

Grant, Lord, that I ne'er may Waver, My Doeds and Motives true; Rindness in my Heart and Courage Will bring me through, —James S. Carter, in July Nautilus.
